The purpose

Life Skills & Leadership develops character, self-discipline, financial stewardship, healthy relationships and service leadership through projects, challenges and reflection. Integrated participation is part of the main program; standalone terms depend on the country.

Nine areas of development

Identity and strengths; communication; leadership and teamwork; decisions and organization; personal finance; employability; entrepreneurship; digital citizenship; and vocation/life planning. Activities are adapted to age and stage.

Juniors: learning by doing

Ages 8-13 use home-based practical challenges: science and faith, cooking and costs, autonomy and order, nature and patience, service and gratitude, saving and goals. Junior 1 is ages 8-9; Junior 2 ages 10-11; Junior 3 ages 12-13.

Seedling to Launch

Seedling (14): study habits, order, discipline and responsibility. Explorer (15): gifts, talents and vocational discovery. Builder (16): service leadership, relationships and finance. Launch (17): life project, entrepreneurship and preparation for the next stage.

Mentoring, projects and evidence

Mentoring provides group guidance and feedback. Students complete documented challenges, reflections and real projects. Meeting groups may combine stages. ChanakCoins may recognize effort and completed challenges; they are not a substitute for assessed evidence or academic credit.

Integrated or standalone

Integrated Life Skills follows the conditions of Off-Campus or Dual Diploma; the Dual pathway awards its planned credit after required evidence is completed. Standalone delivery can serve families, churches, communities and schools. Scope, schedule, platform access and fees are confirmed individually.
